Typographical Union as Host.

The members of Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101, entertained a large number of friends Monday night at a function given at National Rifles' Armory. A pleasing and interesting program was rendered by the performers. An orchestra under the leadership of Prof. Pistorio rendered excellent music. A soprano solo, "I Love You," was Isabel Shelton sang a number of character

Other numbers on the program were: Recitation, Miss Violet Pierson; tenor solo, Thomas J. Quigley; violin solo, Miss Marton F. CREED REVISION BEGINS

MEETING OF SECTION OF PRESBY-TERIAN ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE.

Statement of Faith to Be Prepared for Submission to the Main

Today marked the beginning of what is hoped by those interested, will be preparatory to the final solution of the question of confessional revision in the Presbyterian church. In accordance with a call of Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson of Chicago, chairman of one section of the committee of twenty, one appointed by the last general assembly of the church to consider this question, a meeting of that section was begun today in the chapel of the Church of the Covenant. The chairman, Dr. Johnson, who is a professor in the McCormick Theological Seminary of Chicago, and one of the wellknown men in the church, was engaged in his rooms at the Arlington Hotel this morning in conference with his associates on the committee. It was expected that a session could be held this morning, but the members were delayed in geting here. Rev. George B. Stewart, D.D., of Auburn, N. Y., and Mr. C. T. Thompson of Minneapolis, Minn., will not arrive until Satur-

Dr. Johnson was on hand this morning, and spent some time with Mr. Justice Harlan, the only member of the committee who has his home in this city. Rev. S. P. Sprecher, D.D., of Cleveland, was among the early comers. Rev. Dr. Minton, moderator of the general assembly, chairman of the whole committee and a member of this section, as well as Rev. John De Witt, D.D., of Princeton, N. J., came in

Everything in Readiness.

Arrangements for the session of the com mittee in the Church of the Covenant have been completed under the direction of Rev. Dr. Hamlin, the pastor of the church, so that if the members of the committee come together, as the chairman expects they will, for the first session this afternoon at 3 o'clock they will find everything in readiness. For the use of this committee, which is composed of only seven members, one of the rooms opening into the main auditorium of the chapel has been prepared. Small tables have been provided, so that each mem-ber will have one for his own use. A cheerful grate fire brightens the place while into the large room adjoining the bright winter sunlight pours through the windows on the south side of the church. It is proposed to hold three daily sessions until Wednesday next, when the entire committee will begin its sessions here The work which has been assigned to the section of the entire revision committee which will meet today, is regarded as the most important which the committee is called upon to perform, for the reason that Dr. Johnson and his associates are to prepare a new statement of the faith of the Presbyterian Church which will be brief and simple for popular use Reason for Early Session.

In order that time might be available for the consideration of this subject, the subcommittee was called in session one week in advance of that of the general committee. It is the desire to have some report in readiness for submission to the main committee, so that the sessions of the latter oody, which may continued for ten days or two weeks, may be from the start given up to the discussion of this branch of the duties which were assigned to it by the gen-eral assembly. There is a feeling of hopefulness that some definite conclusion will be reached as the result of the meeting of the committee.

DENIES CHARGES.

Edward Johnson, Under Two Charges, Demands Jury Trial.

Edward Johnson, colored, was arraigned in the Police Court on two charges this morning. He was accused of carrying a morning. He was accused of carrying a land to the part of th concealed weapon, and with having made an assault on John Harris. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty to each charge, and demanded a jury trial. Judge Scott fixed the ball at $500.

It is alleged that Johnson attempted to hold Harris up, while the latter was driving a team on the Benning road, yesterday afternoon. It is said he pointed a pistol at rendered by Mrs. Arthur G. Dunn. Miss | the man in the wagon, and at that time | Mounted Officer Rhodes came along. Johnson dropped his shooting iron, the officer states, scaled a fence and was soon lost in the marsh. Help was summoned from the ninth precinct police station, and after a squad of policemen had scoured the marsh for several hours Johnson was found hid-ing in the bushes.

Against Planting a New Tree.

Aaron Baldwin has written to the District Commissioners asking that they plant a new tree in front of 1203 11th street northeast, declaring that the one planted a year ago did not grow as it should. Mr. Baldwin said he noticed the District had planted a fine young tree in front of 1201 11th street. Trueman Lanham, the superintendent of parking, has submitted an adverse report, saying that he has examined the tree, and while it has not made as much growth as the one north of it, it is no unusual occurrence. "I consider the tree in no condition to justify its removal," he says, "and recommend that the request be not complied with. The bark of the tree, like all sycamores, is rough.'

Mr. Mann and Miss Lipman spent several weeks last summer in Amsterdam, studying old Dutch customs and gathering material for scenic environment and atmosphere for "The Red Kloof." The quaint costume which Mr. Mann wears as the deaf old Boer was made for him in Am-sterdam, while the odd and picturesque bonnets used by the women were picked up by Miss Lipman in Scheveningen. "The Red Kloof' comes to the Columbia almost direct from a six weeks' engagement at the Savoy Theater, New York.

"IF I WERE KING."-Monday evening December 2, will see E. H. Sothern at the New National. This season he will not give tragedy nor melodrama, but promises a play of the romantic school, attractive in every element, a play of absorbing interest, with a sufficiency of love to delight the general theatergoer and a sufficiency of liter-ature to fascinate the scholar. With a scenic background that New York has pronounced gorgeous, Justin Huntly Mc-Carthy wrote the play specially for Mr. Sothern and has fitted him so finely that his old time admirers who have for seasons past cried out for revivals of his old time successes are now silent. The drama which has made such a hit this season in New York, "If I Were King," is said to be finer than anything Mr. Sothern has ever produced. Its period is that of Louis XI. scenes are laid in old Paris. The entire company numbers 140 people. In the cast are over thirty speaking parts played by Messrs. George W. Wilson, Arthur R. LADY OF QUALITY."-"Pudd'nhead Wilson" is testing the capacity of the Lafayette at every performance this week, and it is anticipated that the special matinee on Thursday will break all records at this theater in point of admissions sold. With a view of accommodating all classes of the general public, the management has decided to inaugurate a new scale of prices, to go into effect next Monday. This new scale will range from 15 cents in the second balcony to 75 cents for the first ten rows of the orchestra, with the exception of the Wednesday matinee, when twenty-five cents will admit to all parts of the

For the bill next week the management announces a revival of "A Lady of Quali-ty" by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett: The author is especially well known in Washington by reason of her long residence here. In adapting her novel to meet dence here. In adapting her novel to meet the requirements of the stage Mrs. Bur-nett had the assistance of Stephen Towns-end, an English playwright. PETER F. DAILEY IN VAUDEVILLE.— As a further earnest of his purpose to pre-sent from now on at Chase's Theater only the very best European and American acts available in the fertile field of polite vaude-ville, Manager Chase promises for next week a program of entertainment which is even more attractively composed than the present one, headed by Ten-Ichi and his troupe of wonder workers. The chief head-liner is one which challenges comparison. It is Peter F. Dailey and a company of It is Peter F. Dailey and a company of nine. One does not need to be "on the inside" to know what such an aggregation costs in money. Mr. Dalley has for years been one of the highest-priced comedians on the stage, and his present limited vaudeville engagement is only another instance of the monetary attraction of vaudeville which has tempted away from the legiti-mate so many of its leading stars. Mr. which has tempted away from mate so many of its leading stars. Mr. Dailey will be seen for forty minutes the medium of a comedy called "A through the medium of a comedy called "A Dress Rehearsal," and illustrative of the funny side of stage life behind the scenes. He will be supported by a company which Hoffman, Helene Reimer, Mae Lowery and Hoffman, Helene Reimer, Mae Lowery and Mollie Thompson. Mr. Dailey will introduce some of the latest song hits. Another headline act furnishing the enjoyable element of comedy will be Janet Melville and Evie Stetson. In beautiful evening gowns they offer a snappy, up-to-date cross-fire of conversation and song. Others on the bill will be Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kelcey, amid the gay scenes at the French capital; Mile, Ani, in exhibitions of aerial daring: W. H. Ani, in exhibitions of aerial daring; W. H. Murphy and Blanche Nichols, a novelty in comedy; John D. Gilbert in humorous songs, sayings and doings, and Hedrix, Prescott and Little Marjorie in dancing evolutions. On account of the length of the bill it is requested that all patrons be seated at the rising of the curtain.

THE VILLAGE PARSON.-The produc tion of "The Village Parson," the attrac-tion at the Academy of Music next week, is a play of a type which has of late been emi-nently popular. The scenery is new, bright and correct. Special pains have been ex-ercised in selecting the players. In the first act, where husband and wife separate, the scene becomes one of heartfelt interest. The situation in the third act is another strong scene, in which Little Myrtle, the blind child, does some very exceptional BIJOU BURLESQUE AND VAUDE-VILLE.—Maude Nugent, who wrote the popular song, "Sweet Rosy O'Grady," will be one of the prominent features of the Bijou's bill of vaudeville for next week. In addition to being a composer of no little ability, Miss Nugent ranks as one of the foremost singers of the vaudeville stage, and her contribution to the Bijou perform-ance next week is calculated to make it one of the strongest offerings that Manager Schlesinger has yet put forth. THE HOFMAN RECITAL.—When Josef Hofman first appeared after his retirement as a juvenile prodigy he showed that he had been engaged in serious study and gave every indication of developing into a great artist. When he was here at the National Theater last year he betrayed a listlessness and carelessness that was a disappointment to those who had expected a decided advance upon his work of two years previous. Yesterday afternoon at the Columbia Theater an audience of large proportions and embracing nearly all the resident musicians greeted Mr. Hofman as he modestly walked upon the platform and took his seat at the plano. His protake place at the ring.

REILLY & WOODS' SHOW .- The coming of Reilly & Woods' big vaudeville show always awakens the liveliest interests among lovers of bright, smart, snappy entertainment. The attraction appears yceum Theater next week, and Manager Bryan announces it as the strongest and best novelty bill of the Reilly and Woods career. Forty-three original entertainers from all parts of the world, furnish an enjoyable mix-up of fun, novelty and surprise Among its features are the famous Jos carys, marvelous acrobats, who present the only act of its kind ever having an entire summer's run in New York city, where they appeared as a headliner at Hammerstein's Victoria. Another attracion are the Mollasso Salvaggi troupe of Italian singers and dancers, engaged in Eu with great delicacy and effect, and received well-merited applause. His interpretation of Schumann's "Nachtstuck" and Liszt's blondes and brunettes, known on the continent as "The Girls from Maxin's," make their first American appearance in a diverting sketch characteristic of the high-class London music halls. Others are Leona Thurber and her company of musical pick-aninnies in "Sounds from the South." Czarine, who has never been seen here, in the prettiest of toe dancing; Keough and Ballard in their amusing sketch, "A Vaudeville Surprise," and the grotesque fun makers, Bailey and Madison, in their latest, "What War!" "What Won't They Do Next?" Pat Reilly shows the funny side of life in a Celtic monologue, and Frank D. Bryan, "the man who writes the songs he sings," and his own company of seven singers introduce his latest songs and satires. "A Merry Whirl," noted on the program as "the point to make you laugh," presents eleven original entertainers in an amusing finale.

LILLI LEHMANN SONG RECITAL.-It was a delight to the hundreds of Lilli Lehmann's admirers to hear from her several performances in New York and Boston that her voice is still strong, lovely in qualit and equable, and her management of it most remarkable. The intellectual side of her artistic nature seems to have enforced itself upon all her listeners. She sings all of her songs well, but naturally some better than others. Nothing more beautiful can be desired than her delivery of Schumann's "Waldes Gesprach" and Schubert's "Auf dem Wasser zei Singen." She was one of the greatest cast of "Tristan and Isolde" known to the annals of the operatic stage, singing with Jean and Edouard de Reszke Marie Brema and Van Rooy. Lehmann has by no means abandoned the operatic stage and still appears in her Wagnerian and other roles in German cities, her range being as great as ever. She will give a song and Wagner recital at the Columbia Theater Friday afternoon, December 6, at 4:15 o'clock.

One Policeman Arrests Another. Members of the local police force are somewhat interested in a case tried in Baltimore yesterday in which one policeman arrested another and a magistrate fined him for disorderly conduct. In Baltimore, as in this city, policemen in uniform are permitted to ride free on street cars, and the trouble yesterday between the two officers named narrowed down to a question of gallantry. It is stated that Policeman Rowe, whose father is a lieutenant of the Baltimore force, was seated in a car and several ladies were on their feet. Policeman William Meisz, who was on the rear platform. is alleged to have said: "Why don't you get up and give a lady the seat? You don't pay any fare." Rowe get up and arrested the policeman on the platform. A struggle ensued and Meisz was afterward arraigned. He denied having made the first remark, but admitted that he said he thought it was Rowe's duty to give up his seat. A fine of $1 and costs imposed on Meisz by Magistrate Lewis was paid.

TRIBUTE TO LATE PRESIDENT. Judge C. F. Scott Speaks of Example of McKinley's Life.

"The example that the life of William McKinley placed before the world will do more to uplift mankind than all the sermons that have ever been preached. The faith that he had in his mother's God exhibited itself in his every action."

With these words Judge Charles F. Scott of the Police Court concluded an address to the students of the Business High School yesterday on "The Life and Character of William McKinley." The day was observed by the school authorities as a McKinley memorial day. Several patriotic songs were rendered by the pupils, and Principal A. O. Davis spoke briefly on the signifi-cance of such exercises, but the chief feature of the meeting was the address by Judge Scott. Judge Scott and the martyred President were schoolmates and were close personal friends all the later years of Mr. McKinley's life. Out of so intimate an association the speaker cited many inci-dents of the boyhood, soldier life, profes-sional career and public services of the late President, all intended to emphasize, as the key to Mr. McKinley's greatness, his in-tegrity, his unfaltering adherence to prin-ciple and his tender devotion to his wife.

Wants to Find Her Father. Mrs. Mary Burrows, whose address is given as 1405 O street, Sacramento, Cal., has written a letter to the local authorities asking for information concerning the whereabouts of her father, William Karl, who is now about sixty years old. More than twenty years ago, she states, her father, who was a carpenter, lived at Day-ton, Ohio, and afterward at Louisville, Ky. The writer supposed that he might be in District Sued for Damages. Walter Brown has instituted suit for $1,000 damages against the District of Columbia. Since August 1, 1901, the plaintiff alleges, District officials have caused to be dumped upon property owned by him, in the vicinity of Arizona avenue, large quantities of dirt, stone, brick, sand and mortar. This practice has been kept up, he alleges, with-out his permission and to his damage. George C. Hazelton is the plaintiff's attorney.

The Stimulus of Pure Blood

That is what is required by every organ of the body, for the proper performance of its functions.

It prevents biliousness, dyspepsia, constipation, kidney complaint, rheumatism, catarrh, nervousness, weakness, faintness, pimples, blotches, and all cutaneous eruptions. It perfects all the vital processes.

W. P. Keeton, Woodstock, Als., took Hood's sarsaparilla to make his blood pure. He writes that he had not felt well, but tired, for some time. Before he had finished the first bottle of this medicine he felt better and when he had taken the second was like another man-free from that tired feeling and able to do his work. Hood's Sarsaparilla
